

ROLL & READ

#1

or

or

or

- Will you write more?
- He can look at the people.
- Are they with my books?
- Which words can you read?
- Do you like to run?
- There are two people.
- Were you there?
- I made my first book.
- Do you see the water?

- What time is it?
- She had one other.
- This was for my friend.
- How many do you see?
- I will come get my book.
- When could we go?
- Have some water now.
- Who has the number?
- Did she find her way down?

- He has been called.
- Would you make each one?
- They said this day is long.
- These are them.
- About how many saw it?
- The people may help.
- Where is your water?
- May I have one?
- These are part of their lunch.

ROLL & READ

#2

or

- The boy is at the farm right now.
- Just turn here.
- Take a picture of the animals for me.
- Point to the letters on the page.
- That is a great answer!
- Can you try again?
- I found our new house.
- I made my first book.

or

- Where is the little home?
- Can we play a different game?
- Look at the three small animals!
- Do you know the name of the man?
- I will help her read.
- I should study to learn about America.
- The lines must be very even.

or

- She asked why they went back.
- How many years old is your mother?
- I only heard one big sound.
- I think that is a good sentence.
- Does he have another set?
- The men are following the animals all around.

ROLL & READ

#3

or

or

or

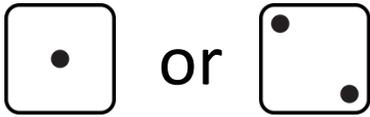

- My father might open the book.
- The children will walk a mile at night.
- There is enough light to see.
- It is important the group is together.
- How far is the other side of the river?
- It is almost time to talk with the young girl.

- It always seems hard to close the door.
- Was she late to the city?
- My favorite song is next!
- The family might watch the tree grow.
- The sea began to carry the boat far.
- Sometimes I talk with the girl.

- Will she plant the tree in the earth?
- We will see the next example soon.
- I often run along the river at night.
- Can you hear them talk about the list?
- I left the country to go to the city.

ROLL & READ

#1

- Will you write more?
- He can look at the people.
- Are they with my books?
- Which words can you read?
- Do you like to run?
- There are two people.
- Were you there?
- I made my first book.
- Do you see the water?

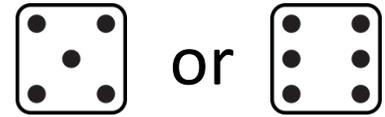

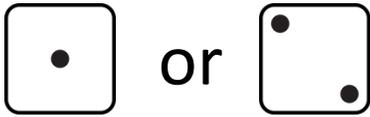

- What time is it?
- She had one other.
- This was for my friend.
- How many do you see?
- I will come get my book.
- When could we go?
- Have some water now.
- Who has the number?
- Did she find her way down?

- He has been called.
- Would you make each one?
- They said this day is long.
- These are them.
- About how many saw it?
- The people may help.
- Where is your water?
- May I have one?
- These are part of their lunch.

ROLL & READ

#2

- The boy is at the farm right now.
- Just turn here.
- Take a picture of the animals for me.
- Point to the letters on the page.
- That is a great answer!
- Can you try again?
- I found our new house.
- I made my first book.

- Where is the little home?
- Can we play a different game?
- Look at the three small animals!
- Do you know the name of the man?
- I will help her read.
- I should study to learn about America.
- The lines must be very even.

- She asked why they went back.
- How many years old is your mother?
- I only heard one big sound.
- I think that is a good sentence.
- Does he have another set?
- The men are following the animals all around.

ROLL & READ

#3

- My father might open the book.
- The children will walk a mile at night.
- There is enough light to see.
- It is important the group is together.
- How far is the other side of the river?
- It is almost time to talk with the young girl.

- It always seems hard to close the door.
- Was she late to the city?
- My favorite song is next!
- The family might watch the tree grow.
- The sea began to carry the boat far.
- Sometimes I talk with the girl.

- Will she plant the tree in the earth?
- We will see the next example soon.
- I often run along the river at night.
- Can you hear them talk about the list?
- I left the country to go to the city.