

Oxymorons

The comedian's joke was seriously funny.

Her silent scream showed everyone how scared she really was.

The teacher always seemed to have a controlled chaos in her classroom.

It was such sweet sorrow to have to say goodbye after their week together.

The deafening silence in the room told her all she needed to know about what had happened.

The man felt very alone in the crowd.

She took a big sip of coffee before walking out the door to work.

We were absolutely unsure of the answers we gave on the test.

The wife tried to give her husband an exact estimate of the damage to her car.

My mom told me that the answer to my math problem was positively wrong.

The woman broke out in a cold sweat when she realized what she had done.

We found the jumbo shrimp to be the tastiest thing on the menu.

When Brian asked her if she was coming she said that it was a definite maybe.

Our hostess asked us in a loud whisper if we preferred soup or salad.

My parents told me and my friends to keep our noise down to a dull roar.

I always give my unbiased opinion when asked about political matters.

My brother took the larger half of the cupcake which wasn't fair.

