Narrative Locker Sketch

What is a word that tells others something important about you? Think of a word that describes your personality or the type of person you are. This should not be a word that describes what you look like – think of when you are identifying character traits in reading.

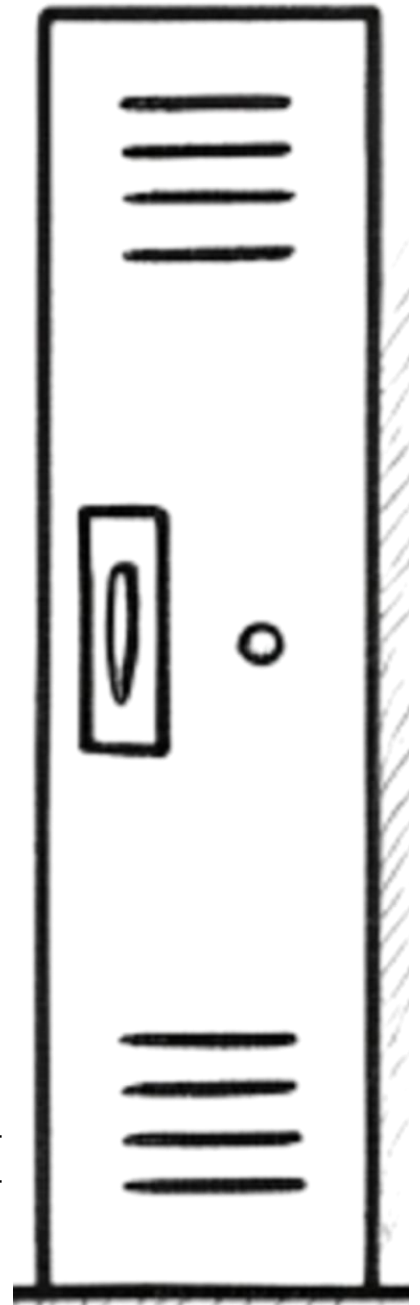

My word is:

I chose this word because _____

What is your strength? This can be a subject at school, a sport, a hobby, or anything else you are good at. Art and music count as subjects at school! Is there a skill you practice at home? It can be baking, cooking, sewing, helping your siblings, or anything else.

My strength is:

I chose this skill because _____

Adding to Your Story Throughout the year, you will add badges, certificates, and other materials to your locker. When you add a new achievement, record it here.
